[!NOTE] Compose is not yet fully implemented. See roadmap.md for planned features.

With compose the entities are put together and merged into a lock file that is then added to the cache SQLite database for quick querying. Compose starts with the main entity and from that entity resolves all dependencies.

Since the `collection.lock` is a JSON file it is possible to extract the data from the entities without using the caching system, but it will be slower.
